RAAGO.. WIIIC.

FPILAY, JUNE 24 1889.

U.r. The Bangor Democrat exults among other matters, at the result of the New-York city election some time since. Unless the editor of that prair has adopted the conclusion that the end sanctifies the means, we should think he would find very little to congratulate himself or his -waders upon in that result. We give one of the means resorted to by the locofoco papers in that city prior to, and during the election, as a fair index of the whole. It was arrested that the Alins Hönse Commissioners opent six theusead deflaration out door charity in the month of October, and only five hundred dollars in the inslement wouth of February. In November, it will be recollected was the State election, and the inference was that the almoners of the city's bounty to the poor and unfortunate, have been "lavish in their gifts in the pleasant and active a month of October to secure voters.

This inqustrous lie, with its influence had its day and effect, and is now keptup, going thro' the papers as proof of fraud and villaing in the Whie party. Bul what are the facts? "Why" just these, that the commissioners expended more money and decamped. He has gone to join his than $3,000 h the purchase of pulatoes and wood to the month of October for distribution in the winter. That they like prudent men purchased the estimated winter supply of potaoeg and wood in the fall and further that these articles were distributed during the winter." This is a fair sample of truth loving lacofoco e lectioneering throughout the country and every honest and fair minded man should eachew and abominate such principles, and the party that sion, during which all the great interests of our

LAST OF THE VIRGINIA ELECTION. The Notional Intelligencer of June 10, bus complete returns of the Congressional election in Virginia. The members returned are thus classed Administration twelve, Whigs seven, Conservatives two. In the twelfth district, Barton, the Whig candidate will contest the election of Mr. Lucas, as there is no drubt of his being justly entitled to his seat. The Intelligencer adds, "when this wrong is put right therefore, the Admitristration will have a majority of but one Congress, instead of the majority of nine votes (45 to 6) with which it began at the opening of Abe last Congress."

VIRGIRIA. The Boston Atlas gives the popwher worte of Virginia in 89 c unties, for 1836 and 1899, courpiled from the Richmond Enquirer .-The following is the aggregate:

Whole vote in 1836, in 89 counties. Van Buren's vote, 25.198 -Milg -19.327de.

Van Buren majority. 5.8: Whole vote in rame counties in 1839, Whig and Conservative vote, 26 615 Loco Foco do. 26 604

Whig majority. Increase of votes, Net Whig and Conservative gain, 5882

The whole vote given in the State for Presiren 30,261 - Whig 23,468 Van Buren's major-117, 6,798. This heavy majority is reduced at most to nothing. Only 911 to gain in the twenly reasoning counties.

11_ Since the election in Virginia, the Conserrise, and an old and well known political paper aries, strict accountability for public monies is to be resided. It is a great pity that these men who have abandoned Martin Yan Buren on account of his was treasury and other radical notions; and his time serving policy, could not agree to unite with the Whig party in getting ry difficulties having been fully presented in more. But as they wont do this, all is, we must Co having been read, the Logislature of 1836 have a sort of a triangular conter, and the hardmthadaft -----

Resolved. That the confidence we have ever felt-in-the integrity, patriotism and talents of HENRY CLAY, is confirmed and strengthened by the daily history of his public life, as well as by the constant, and increasing attachment of this tellow citizens throughout the United States.

Resolved, That we remember with gratitude, his effective and uniform support of the great interests of American industry, his public ser vices in Congress during the "war of 1812 in Europe at The treaty of peace, and since in the vote in the representation of Vincinia in Senate of the United States, where he colmed the elements of discord and disunion, and quieted the most dangerous commotion that havever agitated our country. With a heart single to the common interests of this great people, no has ever seduced him from his allegiance. Pure patriotic and enlightened, he stands the first statesman of the age, and his great public services are embalmed forever in the affectionate remembrance of his countrymen.

Resolved, That of all the candidates proposed for the Presidency of the United States, we prefer Honry Clay. But as we reg id principle more than men, and our country more than our party, we will she riully unite in the support of the candidate who shall be appainated by our political friends in National Convention.

Resolved, That the accumulation of an immense, overwhelming, central power in the hands of the federal executive, is pregnant with imminent danger to the free institutions of this country. Another inevitable result must have been, to deprive us of some portion of the tetrifory making in the language of the Governor, "the only question, lmir large a pertion of our territory we must ging up." Add to this the abandonment of certainty, or that which could easily be reduced to certainty, and the substitution of an indefinite rule which would give the British Government an almost boundless field within which to range as their cupidity might dictate, and it must be evident that no man, not disposed to yield every thing for the sake of "relieving the general Government from embarrassment," could kesitate to express a decided opinion against any such agreement on our part. It may be possible indeed, that the splend- [ id success of "the commission" had not yet fad-

Its originators and supporters were perhaps, not desirous that the EX-minister and his condjutors should find themselves surpassed in diplomatic skill and there was no doubt, some little acusitiveness. lest the naugnificent and kighty creditable arrangement of Mesers Williams & Co. those interesting scions of democracy, a hould be overshadowed by the modest agency of Mr. Davels: Nothing else it is believed, could have called forth the encering remarks upon this agency in which the Argustamong other prints, was pleased to indulge itself at the time. With how much truth might it have been added, that in such case he would be more fortunate than his democratic predecesors. It is to be presumed that so obvious an idea did not escape the writer of that paragraph. It is wonderful how he forebore its utterance. But the result of My Davejs' miggion is well known. Up to the moment of his arrival, the subject had alept. On that day or the next, Ma Williams, Denetor from Maine, gave notice that he akould-bringsit up. Congress, it is not my purpose now to discus-Aver-e as the pregent and last preceeding administrations have shown themselves to meur eny trouble about it, and considering. it as they do an embarrassing question, and inasmuch sa President Van Buren had manifested his awn views by neglecting to run the line, though vested with all necessary power, it would have been too much to expect perhaps, that a Coli gress composed up was the last, would have unak it his imperative duty to do so. It was a vast alride towards the ultimate attainment of our object, when the correctness of our assumptions and our principles were thus for the first time unanimously recognized and asserted by an American Congress. This could may well be contrasted with the commission before relefted to: It was a proud triumph of right guarantee that we should nevel be sacrificed " proof that we had only to stand firm and he irne to onraelves in order to have all our efforts crowned with ancess at a future and no very detant period. What thoughts must lin undisputed portion of the boundary line until geraround the bosom of such women on their dying beds as they think of their neglected God! Young men know not what they follow, as they glide on in the wake of the plumed syren of the dance. They are the false light which meteors hold out to draw the combling ships upon the rocks. They lure us on with music and the pattering of tiny feet, and jeweled fingers, and false smiles, and dalse hearts; and when the victim is caught, like the verled prophet, they display their awful hideousness. Love it mund in gentle hears. It dwells not amid the riots of pleasure; it dies in the glare of splendor, and connot live in the heart devoted to diess and wrak fellies; it is more matured in quictness, than loud applause, or the world's praise. Give me the beaming glance iquid eye, and I yield the bright and flashing blaze of the proud beauty to others."

THE BROKEN CRUTCH.

One hot day in the month of June, a poor suppornt sailor, with but one leg, was going along the road, when his crutch broke in halves, and he was forced to crawl on his hands and knees to the side of the road, and sit down to tired sailor felt asleep upon the ground, and though a thick shower of rain can e on, yet still he slept; for sailors, when on board their ships, have to bear all sorts of weather; when over the deck of the vessel, and wet the poor men to the skin, while they are pulling at the ropes and shifting the sails. When the lame sailor awoke,he found a boy's coat and waistcoat on his head and shoulders to keep him from being wet; and the boy mat by, in his shirt, trying to mend the broken crutch, ...My good lad," said the sailor, "why did you "O," eard he, "I do not mind the rain. but I thought the large drops of rain that fell upon your face would awake you, and you must he andly tired to sleep so sound on the ground. See! I have almost mended your crutch, which I found broken; and if you can lean on me, and cross on youder field to my uncle's farmhouse, am sure he will get you a new crutch. Pray do try to go there. I wish I was tall enough

The suifor-looked at him with tears in his eyes, and said, "When I went to sea, five years ago, I left a boy behind me; if I should now find him such a good fellow as you seem to be, I shall be happy as the day is long, though I have lost my leg, and must go on crutches all the days of my life."

"What was your son's name?" the boy ask-"Tem White," said the sailor, "and my name ia Johii White 🖰 When the boy beard these names, he jumped up, threw his arms round the sailor's neek, and sold, "My dear, dear father, I am Tom White, your nwn little bay." How great was the sa for's joy, thus to meet his own child, and to find him so good to these who wanted help?

Tom had been taken care of by his uncle, while his father was at sea, and the aun-bornt, lame sailor, found a happy home in the farm-house of his brother; and though he had now a new crutch, he kept the old one as long as he lived, and showed it to all the strangers who came to the farm as a proof of the kind heart of his dear son Tom.

During this time she made use of almost every thing

During this time sha made use of phoses every thing which had been recommended to her as good for the complaint, but found little relief, and had formed the conclusion that there was no help for her. In 1877, she and her child (six months old) were so be ily afflicted that they had but I tile rest, day or night, the child being almost covered with sorts, and had been in this stree for several months. A brother of mine, knowing the distress of my family, edwined me by all means to linke trial of Tiufint's Companied for Sift them. Agreeably to his indige, I purchased a quantity of it, and applied it as directed, and I can safely say that in two or three dwar they found event. I can safely say that in two or three days, they found great relief, and in lour week's time, the disorder entirely dis appeared. Since that, they have been free from all to much whatever, and enjoy good health, and I have remon to helieve are perfectly cored. I have lost two clickles with the same complaint. Had the same medicine harn with the same complaint. Had the same medicine hard applied to them, I have good reason to beller of that they would now have been living. I value the Compound high is as a trincal for that awful discusse, gul with pleasure would recommend it to all who may be afflicted with it.
